THE ODD COUPLE

Written by Matthew Perry and
Joe Keenan
COLD OPENING

FADE IN:

EXT. RIVERSIDE DRIVE - A MAJESTIC PRE-WAR BUILDING

FROM THIS ELEGANT EXTERIOR WE PUSH IN TO SEE...

INT. OSCAR'S APARTMENT
(Oscar, Felix, Sam, Katie)

OSCAR MADISON'S SPECTACULAR FOUR-BEDROOM PIG STY. UNOPENED MAIL, DRY-CLEANING, WOMEN'S LINGERIE AND OSCAR'S SOFTBALL MITT DANGLE FROM A TEN-YEAR OLD LIFECYCLE. AMONG THE MESS ARE ALSO NUMEROUS JOURNALISM AWARDS. IN ONE CORNER OF THE ROOM A MYRIAD OF MONITORS SHOW EVERY SPORTS GAME, AND A SPORTS TICKER SCROLLS ON THE WALL.

OSCAR'S ASSISTANT SAMANTHA ("SAM") IS ON THE PHONE.

SAM

Oscar agrees with you, Mr. Kurnitz.

He's very sorry for what he said on his show today... No, I can't put him on right now. He just stepped out.

OSCAR ENTERS FROM THE KITCHEN WITH A SANDWICH.

OSCAR

(MOUTH FULL) I'm not apologizing!

SAM COVERS THE PHONE, AND SHUSHES HIM.

SAM

The minute the words came out of his mouth he knew he'd crossed a line.

OSCAR

They pay me to state my opinions, not retract them every time someone's feelings get hurt!
SAM
Shh! (ON PHONE) Yes, he certainly will. He’ll do that right away.
SAM ENDS THE CALL.

OSCAR
No way, Sam. They can fire me. I’m not taking back what I said about A-Rod.

SAM
He meant what you said about Roger Goodell.

OSCAR
Oh. (THINKS) Yeah, that was rude.
Send him the traditionally passive-aggressive fruit basket. Then go home, I have a date coming.

SAM
A date? I was wondering why you tidied up. Who is she this time?

OSCAR
My insanely hot new neighbor. I’ve been dying to meet her.

SAM
So you snuck some of your mail into her mailbox? Does that trick ever work?
OSCAR

It works exactly three percent of the time... but that three percent, wow!

SFX: THE DOORBELL. OSCAR STARTS ESCORTING SAM TO THE DOOR.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

That might be her. Go. Go, go, go.

SAM

Wait, I nearly forgot, someone called you. His name was... Damn, I’ve got to start writing things down.

OSCAR

Yeah, I hear some assistants do that.

SAM

I’ll remember the name in the elevator like always. Wait, let me pretend I’m in the elevator.

SHE STANDS THERE, LOOKS UP AT PRETEND LIGHTS, AND PRESSES A PRETEND BUTTON.

SAM (CONT’D)

Nope, don’t have it.

OSCAR

No, but what a fun little skit I got to witness there. Would you just go?

HE OPENS THE DOOR. KATIE, (26) DROP-DEAD SEXY IS STANDING
THERE WITH A PIECE OF MAIL.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

Hello. Can I help you?
SAM

I’m just his assistant, not another beautiful woman. I’m not the competition, I’m... (OFF OSCAR’S LOOK) leaving right now.

SAM EXITS TO THE HALL.

KATIE

I think I have some of your mail.

OSCAR

(TAKING IT) Ah, whattaya know it? (RE: ENVELOPE) “Sportscasters Hall of Fame”? Yeah, that’s gotta be me. I don’t like to bring it up but I’m in the “Sportscasters Hall of Fame.”

KATIE

And yet there it was. Twice in one sentence.

OSCAR

I’m Oscar Madison.

KATIE

Katie. If you wanted to meet me you could have done it in the elevator.

OSCAR

I can’t flirt in a room that just goes up and down all day long.

KATIE

You actually do better with women in here? Despite the revolting mess?
OSCAR

Yes, about three percent of the time.
I’ve got a nice bottle of Merlot in the kitchen if I can find it.

KATIE

The Merlot or the kitchen?

SFX: THE DOORBELL. OSCAR, ANNOYED, Crosses to the door.

OSCAR

I’ll be right back.

He opens the door revealing FELIX UNGER. FELIX IS SMARTLY dressed but we sense that the contents are under pressure.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

Felix?

FELIX

Oscar, my old friend. (SEEING KATIE)
Is this a bad time?

OSCAR

Yes, and as you can see I was kind of hoping for a good time. So what’s going on in five words or less?

FELIX just heaves a big sigh.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

Okay, that’s no words. What’s the matter?

FELIX

Ashley left me, Oscar. She wants a divorce! My life is over! (THEN, TO KATIE: POLITELY) Hi, I’m Felix.
KATIE
Katie. Maybe I should be leaving.

OSCAR
No! Don’t be silly. Can’t you see the man needs company?

KATIE
Are you sure?

OSCAR
Yes, I’ve known him since college. He’s very social. Let’s find the kitchen and get this party started.

FELIX
Twenty years of marriage and now I have nothing. My life is a sea of nothingness!

OSCAR
(TO KATIE) Maybe your initial instinct was right.

KATIE
Felix, sorry about your news. And Oscar feel free to flirt with me in the room that goes up and down.

KATIE EXITS.

OSCAR
You realize if this was about anything but your wife leaving I’d be strangling you right now?
FELIX
I wish someone was strangling me right now.

OSCAR
I know how you feel, buddy. I was there just a year ago. But look at my life now.

FELIX
I’m looking. What happened, Oscar? Your majestic pre-war apartment now looks like a post-war apartment.

OSCAR
Yeah, it’s a little messy, but check this out...

WITH A REMOTE OSCAR TURNS ON ALL TWELVE TV’S AND THE ELECTRIC SPORTS NEWS CRAWL. SCORES AND HEADLINES CIRCLE OVERHEAD.

OSCAR (CONT’D)
Gabby would never have let me do anything like this.

FELIX
Yes, because Gabby had taste. She wanted this place to be a home, not the middle of Times Square. (THEN, CONTRITE) I know we haven’t seen each other much since your divorce, but I just want to say...

HE STOPS AS THOUGH OVERCOME.
OSCAR

What is it, buddy?

FELIX MAKES A BIZARRE HONKING SOUND LIKE GEESE IN FLIGHT.

FELIX

Smah!

OSCAR

What the hell’s happening right now?

FELIX

Smah! It’s my sinuses. My Eustachian tubes get clogged. It’s the only way to clear them. Smah! I must be allergic to something in here.

OSCAR

Then we’ll go out. I’ll take you to a sports bar. (NO ANSWER) “Smah” once if you wanna go, twice if you don’t.

FELIX

Smah!

OSCAR

Sports bar it is.

AND AS THE HEAD OUT:

FADE OUT.

END OF COLD OPEN
INT. LANGFORD’S SPORTS BAR - THAT NIGHT - (NIGHT/1)
(Felix, Oscar)

TVS AND SPORTS FANS EVERYWHERE, THIS IS OSCAR’S HAUNT. HE IS BOTH BELOVED AND REVILED BY THE PATRONS AND STAFF. OSCAR AND FELIX SIT IN OSCAR’S REGULAR BOOTH. FELIX NURSES A CUP OF CHAMOMILE TEA, HIS EYES STILL RED FROM CRYING. OSCAR’S HAVING A SANDWICH AND A BEER.

FELIX
Do I look like I’ve been crying?

OSCAR
No, you look like you are crying.
People are gonna think we’re breaking up.

FELIX
You’re right. I need to be strong to survive this trial separation.

OSCAR
“Trial separation”? Didn’t you say she called a lawyer?

FELIX
That doesn’t mean it’s over.

OSCAR
When she calls a locksmith that’s when you know it’s over.

FELIX
Yeah, it’s over. (FRESH TEARS) I’m sorry, Oscar.
OSCAR

It’s okay. Ever since I said that thing about A-Rod the bus boys all hate me anyway.

A BUS BOY WALKS BY AND SMACKS OSCAR IN THE BACK OF THE HEAD. OSCAR REACTS. A WAITER PASSES BY. OSCAR POINTS TO FELIX.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

(TO WAITER) Can we get some more chamomile tea please? And an order of less hitting?

FELIX

I’ve been a bad friend, Oscar. I understand now what you went through with Gabby. And was I there for you? No. Friends since college and I ditched you at your lowest point.

OSCAR

You mean my divorce? No, trust me, the marriage was the lowest point.

FELIX

You know why I disappeared right?

OSCAR

Ashley didn’t like me anymore.

FELIX

Actually she never liked you.

OSCAR

Ever?
FELIX
No. She felt you were a bad influence on me.

OSCAR
She’s right. Ten more years and I’ll have you drinking caffeinated tea.

(THEN) I’ll admit I was a lousy husband with my gambling and drinking and my gambling and drinking. My theory was that if I lost enough gambling I’d have no money left to buy drinks with. It was a terrible theory.

THE WAITER SETS DOWN THEIR DRINKS AS:

FELIX
Look at you. You lost the love of your life and you can joke about it.

I wish I could be that way.

FELIX BURSTS INTO TEARS. EVERYONE IN THE BAR TURNS AND LOOKS. OSCAR IS VERY UNCOMFORTABLE.

OSCAR
I wish you could too.

AS ANOTHER BUSBOY SLAPS OSCAR IN THE BACK OF THE HEAD, WE:

DISSOLVE TO:
SCENE B

EXT. CENTRAL PARK - NIGHT (NIGHT 1)
(Oscar, Felix)

A WARM SUMMER NIGHT. OSCAR AND FELIX WALK THROUGH THE PARK. OSCAR IS EATING AN ICE CREAM SANDWICH FROM A VENDOR.

OSCAR

Only two slaps tonight. Not bad.

FELIX

I have to say, I never saw Ashley leaving me.

OSCAR SITS ON A BENCH.

OSCAR

Seriously? C’mon, Felix, you drove your wife crazy too.

FELIX PULLS OUT A HANDKERCHIEF AND STARTS WIPING THE SPOT ON THE BENCH NEXT TO OSCAR.

FELIX

I fail to see how. I mean yes, I had my flaws, but I at least tried to be a perfect husband.

OSCAR

That was your biggest flaw. You had to do everything better than her. You cleaned better, cooked better. And when she was pregnant, you even glowed better.
FELIX

Maybe I can be slightly exasperating to live with --

HE SPOTS AN ICE CREAM DRIP ON OSCAR’S LAPEL. HE WIPES IT.

OSCAR

I’m glad you took care of that.

FELIX

-- but is that any reason to wait till our son’s flown off to Stanford then change the locks on me? (THEN) Our first night alone was going to be so romantic. Ashley spent hours cooking us a lovely meal. However, cumin and rosemary don’t go together, but I don’t have to tell you that.

OSCAR

Of course you have to tell me that.

FELIX

So I went into the kitchen and recooked it. That must be what set her off. Funny how it’s the little things that can end a marriage.

OSCAR

Wake up. That’s not a little thing!
If I spent four hours making a meal and you recooked it, I’d kill you.
FELIX
You’re right. I was an awful husband. Just like I’m an awful friend.

OSCAR
You’re a great friend. You literally saved my life.

FELIX
Those men wouldn’t have killed you.

OSCAR
They’d have broken my legs if you hadn’t hocked Ashley’s engagement ring so I could pay what I owed.

FELIX
Don’t remind me. That fake ring’s haunted me for years.

OSCAR
I paid you back. Didn’t you get her a real one?

FELIX
Yes, but her finger swelled so the fake wouldn’t come off. She’s been wearing glass for twenty years.

OSCAR
It doesn’t matter now. You’re free!

FELIX
I don’t want to be free. I hate being single.
OSCAR
You’ve been single for 12 seconds.
Things have changed since the last time you were out there. There’s technology to help you find women.
Apps, Felix, right in your pocket.
Your phone wants to get you laid!

FELIX
My phone should mind its own business.

OSCAR
Face it, we were both lousy husbands.
Marriage is about compromise and you and I were not good at compromising.
That’s why we’re sitting in a stupid park surrounded by pigeons and ducks, with no wives waiting for us. But there’s an upside to divorce too.

FELIX
The loneliness? The shame-spiralling sense of grief and failure?

OSCAR
No, you big crybaby. We don’t have to compromise anymore. We can be ourselves, have a little fun. There are a lot of young women out there with daddy issues. I’ll teach you how to exploit every one. So cheer up!

(MORE)
OSCAR (CONT'D)

You’re making the ducks cry. So come on. You can stay with me for awhile.

FELIX

Are you sure? What about my allergies?

OSCAR

We’ll have your nose surgically removed and we’ll be fine.

FELIX

I don’t know how to thank you for this, Oscar.

OSCAR

I should be thanking you. I’ve missed you, buddy. This is gonna be great.
THE ODD COUPLE
"PILOT"

17.

SCENE C

INT. OSCAR’S APARTMENT – DAY (DAY/2)
(Oscar, Felix)

THE APARTMENT IS UNRECOGNIZABLE. THINGS LIKE FURNITURE AND
THE FLOOR ARE NOW VISIBLE. OSCAR IS SITTING READING HIS IPAD
WHILE FELIX WALKS THROUGH THE ROOM SPRAYING AIR FRESHENER.
HE GETS A LITTLE TOO CLOSE TO OSCAR. FELIX STOPS AND SAYS:

FELIX

SMAH! SMAH, SMAH!

OSCAR

(QUIETLY; NOT LOOKING UP) Uh-oh.

AS FELIX CONTINUES SPRAYING AND HONKING WE:

FADE OUT.

END OF ACT ONE
FADE IN:

INT. FELIX AND OSCAR’S APARTMENT - NIGHT (NIGHT/3)
(Oscar, Felix, Roy, Rex, Teddy, Katie)

IT’S GAME NIGHT AND TWO OF OSCAR’S BUDDIES ARE OVER TO WATCH. THEY ARE TEDDY, A NEUROTIC COP, AND ROY, OSCAR’S GROUCHY BUSINESS MANAGER. THEY SIT ON THE COUCH, SURROUNDED BY THE MONITORS WHICH ARE ALL PLAYING DIFFERENT GAMES.

TEDDY

Can we turn nine of these off? I don’t know what the hell’s happening.

SFX: DOORBELL. OSCAR CROSSES TO ANSWER.

OSCAR

This is my job, man. I gotta watch all of these.

ROY

(RE: A MONITOR) What sport is this? A muscular guy delivering a pizza to two naked women?

OSCAR

What do you want from me? I’m layered.

OSCAR OPENS THE DOOR TO REX, A BURLY EX-FOOTBALL COACH.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

Hey, Rex. Wipe your feet.

REX

What?
OSCAR
If you know what’s good for you, you’ll wipe your feet.

REX
Am I in the right apartment? It’s spotless in here. What the hell happened?

OSCAR
Felix the hell happened.

REX
I don’t even see that piece of bacon in the corner anymore.

ROY
Speaking of bacon, when are the pizzas getting here?

OSCAR
I didn’t order pizzas. Felix insisted on cooking. (CALLS INTO KITCHEN)
Felix! How’s the food coming?

FELIX ENTERS FROM THE KITCHEN.

FELIX
I’m just plating it. (THEN) Guys, what did I say? Coasters, please!
And Roy, if you need to smoke just turn on the air purifier. (SWITCHING
IT ON) See? It sucks all the bad air right out of the room.
FELIX EXITS INTO THE KITCHEN.

TEDDY
You know what else is sucking the air out of the room?

ROY
He’s right. As your business manager I’m glad you’re splitting expenses. But as your friend, I gotta say this guy’s ruining everything.

TEDDY
At least he let you keep your shoes on. Though I have to say these booties are very comfortable.

REX
You can’t let him destroy game night, Oscar. I can’t fight with my wife seven nights a week.

ROY
You gotta lay down the law.

OSCAR
I do. And every time I lay it down he vacuums it up.

FELIX RE-ENTERS PUSHING A CART LOADED WITH FOOD.

FELIX
I hope everybody’s hungry!

EVERYONE RISES AND GATHERS AROUND THE CART. THEY STARE QUIZZICALLY DOWN AT THE FOOD.
OSCAR
Well, doesn’t this look... different.

FELIX
That’s ‘cause it’s all vegan.

ROY
What? There’s no meat in any of this?

OSCAR
You do realize we’re not hamsters, right?

rex
What did you do with the bacon from the corner? I want the bacon from the corner.

FELIX
You haven’t even tasted it. Try one of these.

teddy
(TASTING IT) What are they?

FELIX
Meat-free chicken wings.

ROY
If a chicken had no meat it would just fall down to the ground.

OSCAR
I guarantee you, we’re the only people on the face of the earth having this conversation.
FELIX
I just thought that with Oscar’s high cholesterol --

OSCAR
How do you know my cholesterol’s high?

FELIX
Well between just looking at you and those pills in your medicine cabinet --

OSCAR
You looked in my medicine cabinet?!

FELIX
How else could I paint it?

OSCAR
Good point. For a minute there I thought you were being crazy and intrusive!

AN OVEN TIMER DINGS IN THE KITCHEN.

FELIX
Ooh, that’ll be my pizza.

OSCAR
Is there any pizza in the pizza?

FELIX
You’ll never know the difference!

FELIX EXITS. THE GUYS EXCHANGE A LOOK, THEN START OUT.

ROY
See you later, Oscar. We’d rather watch at Mulvaney’s Bar.
OSCAR

Don’t go, guys. I can’t eat all this dirt on my own.

AS THEY’RE LEAVING OSCAR TRIES SOME OF THE FOOD. HE IMMEDIATELY SPITS IT OUT. FELIX RE-ENTERS WITH A VEGAN PIZZA.

FELIX

Hey, where is everyone?

OSCAR

Gone.

FELIX

They left?

OSCAR

They didn’t leave, Felix -- they fled.
From you. Something I wish I could do, but unfortunately I live here!

FELIX

So in other words, I’m getting on your nerves?

OSCAR

Not in other words, those are the perfect ones. There better be some real food left in that kitchen!

OSCAR STARTS OUT AS WE RESET TO:

INT: THE KITCHEN – CONTINUOUS

OSCAR ENTERS, FELIX RIGHT BEHIND HIM. OSCAR STARTS SEARCHING THROUGH THE REFRIGERATOR.
OSCAR

It wasn’t enough that you had to boil the whole apartment -- now you’re telling me what to eat?

FELIX

Your diet is terrible. Do you know how clogged your insides must be? Have you ever had a colonoscopy?

OSCAR

No, but the way you’re cleaning I’ll probably get one next time I doze off. (SEARCHING THE FRIDGE) Where’s my burrito? I had a burrito in here.

FELIX

I threw it out.

OSCAR DEFIANTLY FISHES THE BURRITO OUT OF THE TRASH CAN.

FELIX (CONT’D)

Are you insane? If you want a burrito I’ll make you a gluten-free one.

OSCAR

I have no idea what gluten is -- but if you’re against it, it must be delicious!

OSCAR EXITS THE KITCHEN AS WE RESET TO:

INT. THE LIVING ROOM - CONTINUOUS

OSCAR ENTERS, EATING THE BURRITO. FELIX IS RIGHT BEHIND HIM.
FELIX
You never ate this badly when you were married.

OSCAR
Because Gabby was a nag, or at least I thought she was until I started living with a Nag-asaurus.

FELIX
She nagged you because she loved you. Are you eating actual garbage to kill yourself? You think that will punish her for leaving you?

OSCAR
She’s not the one I feel like punishing right now!

FELIX
You know what your problem is?

OSCAR
I know exactly what my problem is, Felix.

FELIX
You’re in denial. You still haven’t processed the pain from your divorce.

OSCAR
I’m not you, Felix. I’m not all mopey and stuck in the past.
FELIX

I am not stuck in the past!

SFX: HIS PHONE RINGS. HE CHECKS THE CALLER ID.

FELIX (CONT’D)

It’s Ashley! She’s calling me! Maybe she changed her mind!

OSCAR

Yeah, I’m sure that’s just what it is.

FELIX

Darling! How are you. I’ve missed you so much. Have you missed me?...

(THEN) What? Oh, no! I’m sorry! I can explain! What happened was --

(SHE HANGS UP) Ashley? Ashley?

OSCAR

Ooh, that didn’t sound very good.

FELIX

She decided to have her engagement ring removed.

OSCAR

Ooh.

FELIX

When the jeweler yanked it off the “diamond” broke like the cheap glass it was!

OSCAR

Ooh.
FELIX
Now it’s over for sure. (WEEPY) My last shred of hope is gone!

OSCAR
Felix you’re crying again. Are you aware of that?

FELIX
Pardon my emotions! Some people have those you know. I’ll go to the park. I’m sure I’ll get more sympathy from the ducks.

FELIX OPENS THE DOOR TO LEAVE AND BUMPS RIGHT INTO -- KATIE.

KATIE
(RE: HIS TEARS) Wow... still?

OSCAR
Katie!

RESET TO:

INT. OSCAR AND FELIX’S APARTMENT - HALLWAY - CONTINUOUS

OSCAR JOINS KATIE IN THE HALL, CLOSING THE DOOR ON FELIX.

OSCAR
Hey! You get my text? Can we do dinner tomorrow?

KATIE
I can’t. My sister is staying with me and I promised I’d spend the night with her. She’s a little finicky about being alone.
OSCAR
Invite her along then! I’ve got someone finicky staying with me too. We’ll make it a double date!

KATIE
You mean Felix? He seems a little fragile at the moment.

OSCAR
He’s not fragile. He just has terrible sinuses. Either that or a drowning gazelle resides in his bedroom.

KATIE
Okay, if you’re sure he’s ready.

OSCAR
Perfect! We’ll see you tomorrow. I’ll get us reservations.

KATIE
No need. I already have plenty.

AND WE RESET TO:

INT. OSCAR AND FELIX’S APARTMENT – LIVING ROOM – CONTINUOUS
OSCAR RE-ENTERS.

OSCAR
(TO FELIX) This should cheer you up -- I got you a date.

FELIX
What? I’m not ready to date.
OSCAR

It’ll be perfect. I heard she’s finicky too.

FELIX

I don’t care. I’m not ready.

OSCAR

C’mon, this will be good for you. No tears or looking back. Just girls and booze and hopefully a little debauchery.

FELIX

If I do this will we be friends again?

OSCAR

Friends for life. Closer than ever.

FELIX

That’s all I want.

OSCAR

Me too. And the fun and debauchery part.

FELIX

Okay. (THEN) Can I at least cook?

OSCAR

Not a good idea, pal. Because we’re not all bunny rabbits.

AS OSCAR EXITS WE:

CUT TO:
SCENE H

INT. OSCAR AND FELIX’S APARTMENT - (NIGHT/NIGHT 4)
(Oscar, Felix, Katie, Lindsay)

FELIX, NICELY DRESSED, IS PUTTING A PLATTER OF HORS D’OEUVRES ON THE COFFEE TABLE. OSCAR ENTERS, TYING HIS NECKTIE. HE SEES THE FOOD.

OSCAR

I said you didn’t need to cook.

FELIX

We have to offer something with drinks.
(POINTS) And those have pancetta in them. (OFF OSCAR’S LOOK) Bacon.

OSCAR

Now that I’ll eat!

SFX: THE DOORBELL.

OSCAR (CONT’D)

Okay, they’re here. So one more time, what are you not going to do tonight?

FELIX

(BY ROTE) Talk about Ashley.

OSCAR

Or think about Ashley. ‘Cause waterworks and debauchery do not mix.

FELIX

Some women like to see men cry.

OSCAR

That’s just a myth created by men who cry. I’m opening the door. And whose name are we not going to say?
FELIX
Ashley.

OSCAR
You just said it!

FELIX
You haven’t even opened the door!

OSCAR CROSSES TO ANSWER OPENS THE DOOR TO KATIE AND LINDSAY, WHO’S VERY CUTE BUT TIGHTLY WOUND.

OSCAR
Katie, welcome. You didn’t tell me your sister was so adorable. She’s as cute as a box of kittens. (TO LINDSAY) You must be Lindsay.

LINDSAY
You must be fifty.

OSCAR
And spunky too. Felix, this is your cute and spunky date Lindsay. (TO LINDSAY) Lindsay, this is my friend Felix who’s also nowhere near the age of fifty but feel free to guess his weight.

LINDSAY
Hi, Felix.

FELIX
Hello, Lindsay.

AN AWKWARD BEAT.
KATIE
Well, we’re off to a sizzling start.
But I love what you’ve done with the place. Did you clean in our honor?

OSCAR
It was the least I could do.

FELIX
That you could do? (RE: FOOD) Perhaps you’d like to try one of Oscar’s mini-quesadillas?

LINDSAY
(TAKES ONE) Wow, Oscar, you cook?

OSCAR
I dabble.

LINDSAY
Oh my God, this is the greatest thing I ever tasted in my life. I’m sorry about what I said. You look terrific.
I’m just overly protective of my little sister.

KATIE
And she’s been up with a cold all night.

OSCAR
Well, then we found the right date for you. Felix has had a cold since 1987. You know what helps a cold?

(MORE)
Oscar (cont'd)

Or anything? Alcohol. Let me fix some drinks.

Katie

Good idea. I’ll give you a hand.

Oscar and Katie exit as we reset to:

Int. The Kitchen - Continuous

They make drinks, scotch for Oscar, wine for the others.

Katie

I like you Oscar, but before this date goes any further I need to make one thing clear...

Oscar

I’m not sure I like the sound of that.

Katie

If we hit it off, it has to be a purely sexual relationship. Are you okay with that?

Oscar

Hmm. Let me think. Yes.

Katie

I’m a busy woman. I don’t need an over-emotional guy who’s clingy after sex, okay?

Oscar

Yes, yes, yes. I can’t stop saying the word yes.
KATIE
We can have our fun, but after we’re done --

OSCAR
I’m fine with a quick exit. You can put me in a catapult.

FROM THE LIVING ROOM WE HEAR FELIX HONKING:

FELIX (O.S.)
Smah!

KATIE
What was that?

NOW WE HEAR LINDSAY HONKING AS WELL:

LINDSAY (O.S.)
Smah! SMAH, SMAH, SMAH!

OSCAR
What was that?

OSCAR AND KATIE EXIT WITH THE WINE AS WE RESET TO:

INT. LIVING ROOM - CONTINUOUS

FELIX IS DEMONSTRATING HIS SINUS TECHNIQUE TO LINDSAY.

OSCAR
What are you doing, Felix?

FELIX
I was showing her how to clear her sinuses. (TO LINDSAY) You need more force. Don’t be afraid to be loud.

LINDSAY
Smah! Smah! That really helps...
OSCAR
This is what I go to bed listening to every night.

KATIE
And now apparently so will I.

LINDSAY
Felix was just telling me about his wife, Ashley.

OSCAR
(APPALLED) Ashley? (TO FELIX) Felix, what did we agree?

FELIX
She asked me.

LINDSAY
I’m curious. I’m divorced myself. How long since your marriage fizzled?

FELIX
... Just a week.

LINDSAY
Oh, wow. (RE: HERSELF) Six months.

OSCAR
So what you’re saying is with time it gets better?

LINDSAY
Not really. (THEN: RE: HER PHONE) This is my ex-husband, Brandon.
FELIX
(RE: Photo) I see you like them rugged and handsome.

LINDSAY
Turns out so did he. You got any of pictures of Ashley?

FELIX
Do I have pictures!

FELIX CROSSES THE ROOM TO GET HIS IPAD. AN IRATE OSCAR FOLLOWS AFTER HIM.

OSCAR
Are you crazy? Are you out of your mind? You’re going to show pictures of Ashley? Don’t you know what that will do to you? It’s going to be like a water park in here?

FELIX
She asked to see them. Get a hold of yourself, Oscar.

OSCAR
Me holding myself is exactly the problem! Something magical is taking place here. Something truly magical. I’m half-expecting a unicorn to walk in at any moment, and if you screw this up for me I’ll never forgive you.
FELIX
Oscar, calm down. I’m not going to lose it over a few old pictures.

FELIX CROSSES BACK, SITS AND STARTS SHOWING LINDSAY PICTURES ON HIS IPAD.

OSCAR
Where’s Katie?

LINDSAY
She got a call about work. (RE: PICTURE) Oh, she’s pretty. And how sweet of you to be dabbing that spot off her dress.

FELIX
She never could master chopsticks. Luckily I always carry tissues.

OSCAR
Good, ‘cause you’ll need ‘em in a minute.

LINDSAY
And who’s this?

FELIX
That’s Oscar’s ex-wife Gabby.

LINDSAY
(TO OSCAR) Your wife is gorgeous.

OSCAR
Yeah, she takes care of herself. Does anyone know where I can get a good catapult?
FELIX
Here’s the four of us on our first Hawaii trip. God, we look so young.
(TO OSCAR) Have you ever seen these?

OSCAR
Nope. Never saw ‘em, don’t need to see ‘em now.

FELIX
Oh, c’mon, look at them.

OSCAR RELUCTANTLY LOOKS AT THE PICTURES.

LINDSAY
(TO OSCAR) You look at your wife with such love in your eyes. And now you’re divorced -- that’s so sad.

OSCAR
No it’s not. (TO FELIX) Do we really need to be doing this now?

LINDSAY
(POINTS) And this one too, the way you smile at her! What happened?

OSCAR

FELIX
These are from Oscar’s 30th birthday party on the beach. Gabby hired a barge to surprise him with fireworks.
LINDSAY
That’s so sweet!

FELIX
And her birthday card said, “Because you will always be the fireworks in my heart.” I’d never seen him so moved.

BEHIND THEM OSCAR IS STARTING TO WELL UP A LITTLE.

LINDSAY
(POINTING TO A PHOTO) Aw, look at you, Oscar -- you're crying.

OSCAR
No, I'm not.

FELIX TURNS AND SEES THAT OSCAR IS FIGHTING TEARS.

FELIX
Oscar, are you all right?

OSCAR
(WIPING HIS EYES) I’m fine, okay? Would you just put the damn pictures away?

KATIE, HER CALL FINISHED, REJOINS THEM.

LINDSAY
(TO OSCAR) Oh, you poor thing! You miss her, don’t you?

KATIE
Is everything okay?
FELIX
Oscar was just looking at pictures of his wife --

OSCAR
No, I wasn’t. They were being jammed down my throat!

KATIE
Oh my God, are you crying?

LINDSAY
Don’t be embarrassed. I like a man who cries.

OSCAR
(RE: KATIE) Well, she doesn’t!

KATIE
Can I get you another scotch?

OSCAR
Please. (TO LINDSAY) And please go help her. I’d like to be alone when I murder Felix.

KATIE AND LINDSAY EXIT TO THE KITCHEN.

OSCAR (CONT’D)
What are you trying to do to me!

FELIX
I was right. You’re not over her.

OSCAR
And here we see one dead unicorn,
Ladies and Gentleman.
FELIX
Let the tears flow, Oscar! You’re close to a breakthrough!

OSCAR
I’m close to breaking this iPad over your head!

FELIX
Don’t hide from your feelings. Let it all out! You’ll feel better.

WE RESET TO:

INT. THE KITCHEN — CONTINUOUS

KATIE IS POURING A SCOTCH FOR OSCAR.

KATIE
You think that’s enough?

LINDSAY
For a man in his condition? Let’s just bring him the whole bottle.

FROM THE LIVING ROOM THEY HEAR A LOUD CRACK! THEN A SCREAM OF PAIN, FOLLOWED BY A THUD.

FELIX (O.S.)
Ahh!

THE WOMEN EXCHANGE A CONCERNED LOOK THEN HURRY INTO --

INT. THE LIVING ROOM — CONTINUOUS

FELIX IS NOW ON THE GROUND, CLUTCHING HIS HEAD. THE HORS D’ŒUVRES ON THE COFFEE TABLE HAVE SPILLED TO THE FLOOR. LINDSAY RUSHES TO FELIX.

KATIE
My God! What happened?!
FELIX
(IN TEARS) He hit me over the head with an iPad!

OSCAR
I told you I was going to hit you over the head with the iPad!

LINDSAY
(TO OSCAR) What’s wrong with you!
(TO FELIX) Are you okay?

FELIX
Well, my head just got hit with an iPad. I’ve been better.

OSCAR
You made me cry, you big bully!
I’ll replace it. And dinner’s officially on me.

KATIE
You think we want to have dinner with you now?

LINDSAY
You sir, are a yucky, yucky, yucky, yucky man. And Felix is coming home with us.

FELIX
Thank you.
OSCAR

Fine. Take him. Let him be your problem.

AS KATIE, LINDSAY AND FELIX HEAD FOR THE DOOR:

FELIX

This may seem crazy, but I think that iPad cleared my sinuses.

LINDSAY

Smah!

AND THEY GO, LEAVING OSCAR ALL ALONE. HE POURS A DRINK. THEN, WHAT THE HELL, POURS MORE. THEN HE JUST TAKES A BIG SWIG FROM THE BOTTLE. AND WE...

CUT TO:
SCENE K

INT. FELIX AND OSCAR’S APARTMENT - THE NEXT MORNING (D6)
(Oscar, Felix, Lindsay, Katie)

FELIX ENTERS. OSCAR, DRESSED IN LAST NIGHT’S CLOTHES, HAS PASSED OUT SITTING UP ON THE COUCH. THE CRACKED IPAD IS ON HIS LAP AND HE’S CLEARLY BEEN LOOKING AT MORE PICTURES. THE NEARLY EMPTY BOTTLE OF SCOTCH IS ON THE COFFEE TABLE. FELIX APPROACHES HIM.

FELIX

Oscar?

OSCAR WAKES UP, STARTLED.

OSCAR

Ah! Felix, I’m so glad you came home.

FELIX

I’m just here to get some things.
I’ll be moving in with Katie and Lindsay till I’m back on my feet.

OSCAR

Wow, if I moved in with those two I’d never be on my feet.

OSCAR STARTS TO STAND AND FALLS BACK, STILL WOOZY.

FELIX

You’re not so good on your feet right now. Did you drink that whole bottle last night?

OSCAR

Hey, there’s still a semblance of liquid left in there.
FELIX

My mistake.

OSCAR

There was something I wanted to tell you last night but I needed to be drunk to say it. And now I’m just hung-over. (FINISHES THE BOTTLE)

Okay, there -- I can say it.

FELIX

Oscar, Oscar, Oscar...

OSCAR

Shh, let me talk. I like to pretend I’m this funny, carefree guy who’s actually happy his marriage ended. I thought I was over Gabby. But if last night proved anything it’s that I’m clearly not, that I’m still hurting. (RE BROKEN IPAD) And that Apple needs to put a shatterproof screen on these things. When you didn’t come home last night, I thought, “Why do I do this? Why do I push the people I care about out of my life? But my point is... Boy am I drunk right now...

FELIX

Don’t stop, you’re doing great.
OSCAR

It gets lonely up here, all right? I need you. So please don’t go, okay? Just please don’t. (THEN) Don’t cry either. We have really had enough of that.

FELIX

May I speak now?

OSCAR

You may speak.

FELIX

You were wrong about something else.

OSCAR

Wait, isn’t this the part where you say you were wrong too?

FELIX

You said being divorced means we don’t have to compromise anymore. Clearly we do. If this second marriage is going to work --

OSCAR

Marriage?

FELIX

Isn’t that what this is? A practice marriage so we’ll be better prepared for our next real ones?

KATIE AND LINDSAY ENTER THROUGH THE FRONT DOOR.
LINDSAY
Felix, are you okay? Mr. Mean Man’s not beating you with his laptop, is he?

FELIX
It’s okay. We kissed and made up.

OSCAR
There was no kissing. (TO THE WOMEN) Ladies, I’m sorry I ruined our date last night. But why don’t we have it now?

KATIE
Now?

FELIX
We can all go out for breakfast. Who’s hungry?

KATIE
I’m a model. I’m always hungry.

LINDSAY
Between all the hitting and crying last night, none of us had dinner. I’m starving.

FELIX LOOKS TO THE WOMEN. THEY SIGH AND SHRUG “WHY NOT?”

FELIX
Oscar, you’ll be ordering an egg white omelet. Cholesterol, cholesterol, cholesterol.
OSCAR

Fine. But if I have to eat healthy, how are you planning to compromise,
Mr. Clean?

FELIX

(THINKS, THEN:) How’s this?

HE PICKS UP A HALF FINISHED GLASS OF RED WINE FROM LAST NIGHT AND DUMPS IT ONTO THE RUG.

FELIX (CONT’D)

Let’s go.

FELIX HEADS TO THE DOOR. OSCAR STARES AMAZED AT THE STAIN.

OSCAR

You’re just going to leave that?

FELIX

Yep. I’m being you, Oscar. Let’s eat. I may not even use a napkin!

THEY ALL HEAD OUT.

BEAT. THE DOOR REOPENS AND FELIX RUSHES BACK IN AND OVER TO THE STAIN. OSCAR WEARILY ENTERS AND HEADS TO THE KITCHEN.

OSCAR

Where’s the stain remover?

FELIX

Third shelf in the pantry! (AS OSCAR GOES) Hurry! It’s starting to set!

AND WE...

FADE OUT.

END OF ACT TWO TAG

INT. FELIX AND OSCAR’S APARTMENT/OSCAR’S BATHROOM – LATER
(N6) (OSCAR, FELIX [O.S.])

OSCAR CLIMBS INTO HIS PERFECTLY-MADE BED, LAYS THERE A BEAT, THEN THROWS OFF THE COVERS, AND LIKE A TORNADO, MESSES UP THE BED, PLACES THE LAMP ON ITS SIDE, AND MESSES UP EVERYTHING ELSE IN THE ROOM TILL IT’S JUST RIGHT.

HE SMILES AND IS AT PEACE, AS HE CLIMBS BACK INTO HIS MESSY BED. A BEAT, THEN:

FELIX (O.S.)

Smah! Smah!

OSCAR

Oh my good God...

OSCAR TURNS OUT THE LIGHT, Buries his head under the pillows. OVER BLACK WE HEAR:

FELIX (O.S.)

Smah!

AND WE...

FADE OUT.

END OF SHOW